To begin with, food that is easier to prepare allows people to save time. If people wants to cook food by themselves, they have a lot of task to do. First, people have to go to supermarkets and buy food ingredients. Going to supermarket and choosing preferable food ingredients need at least thirty minute to one hour. In addition, cooking food need more time. What is more, if they cook food in home, people have to wash their plates or pans after enjoy dishes. On the other hand, if people buy prepared food or frozen food, all they have to do is just heat the food in their microwave. I think people need only five minutes to prepare such convenient foods except for the time to buy them.
